From: James Craig Subject: DEQ

In regard to the attached letter from DEQ, we have had two meetings with Richard Wixom since Charles Bird has been on board. Charles has gone through and done an audit on all our facilities regarding areas we need to concentrate on to head off future violations. The items referenced in this letter have been reviewed with Wixom and at this time are under control. Our relationship with DEQ and living up to the requirements outlined in our permits are serious and we must take heed. We are beyond the point of warning letters in the future and are faced with being slapped with fines. The main thing we have to concentrate on is preventive maintenance in areas that will cause such violations to occur. Charles is doing a good job of working with our people and getting them to think in a more serious manner toward our relationship with this organization. The days of "hand slaps" are over and we can be faced with some very serious violations if we don't stay on top of this matter.
